FRIDAY ... To-Day a Day of Duty. Brown is to be hung to-day. A jury has found him guilty; the Court gave the sentence; and by the messengers of law he is to he hung. He who resorted to violence has met a violent death. This is a day not to discern the faults of others, but to mend and prevent our own. Are we guiltless of his erime? Have we always been in the temper toward our neighbor which caused us to treat him with charity? Did we at any time madden the people with the demagogue's appeal to the poor to war on the rich; to the mob to attack the bank; to the mob to rout the negroes at Bucktown, or the Shakers from their villages? Are we not disposed to get rid of an offensive press by throwing the types out of the window or into the river? Our duty to-day, then, is to determine that we will set no more bad examples; to resolve to discountenance violence; to mind our own business, and to let other people mind theirs. We protest against Ohio or Cincinnett being classed among the enemies of the South. Whatever sins have been committed in hostility to the South heretofore, shall suffice. To-day we turn over a new leaf. The South must be as generous in return. Let her dismiss her fears.

It was not a justification for Brown that Slavery is a wrong. The excuse for him would avail the tradesmes and laborer to mob the manufacturer for severity of exactions in the work shop-the Agrarian in attacking and robbing the man of wealth. It is hardly comportable with the patriotism and Christianity of the motive assigned, to risk the stability of a union of these states by an assault upon the Slave institution. If that is to be done, the North has the power to dye the plains of Virginia and the Slave States in blood, and if Slavery can be obliterated by force, raze it from the land. This we won't do; then why lacerate the tender cords of sympathy which unites these States. Is it our magnanimous mission, now having the power, to intimidate and vex our Southern friends in return for the subjection they have imposed upon us?

and meet the conservatives of the North half way with a whole heart. Let violence no longer prevail on either side.

We invoke a truly Christian spirit to guide us as patriots, to wage no bloody war of force on our neighbors. They have sorrows enough, fears enough, in the fatal institution which circumstances has imposed upon them. The States exempt from the evil should not sport at the fears and apprehensions of slave-owners, nor deify the hand which bears the torch to burn their dwellings. Let the wrongs of Kansas be avenged as Providence directs, in an unseen and noiseless way; let not States of the same Confederacy be discordant and belligerent, but, in true fellowship, let us devote ourselves snew to the good of the Commonwealth, not by a revolution of blood, but by the peaceable effective course of a good example and the unaided force of the words of truth. If the owners of slaves are relieved from sutside pressure, they will consult their interests as to getting rid of the evil. They have a right to retain what the Constitution secures. We of the West, who have hope, and not the dread which South Carolina displays, are dreaming of no Southern Confederacy, but are desiring a new bond of Union with that State by bands of iron, and new bonds of affection by knowing each other better. We of the West desire but one Confederacy, and will listen to no projects of Disunion.

The Season of Trade.

Cincinnati is realising her important position as a mart for Western commerce, and as a metropolis in which to meet, daily, representatives of the people of all climes and suns. Magically, almost, the skill of the architect and the builder, with the superabundant wealth of a well-husbanded trade, is constructing and reconstructing merchant palaces and ranges of warehouses to adequately keep pace with the wholesale business of Cincinnati. There is one feature of Cincinnati business which is wealth of itself-its integrity, its prudence. For years and years the same men, the same houses making principals of the associates, at the same localities, have plied an honest, profitable business, securing, with small profits, a name and fame for fair dealing. With such a character, with increased supplies and the encouragements of an abundant crop, Cincinnati is engaged in her Fall Trade. The West finds us at home.

The Recurrence to First Principles. Ex-Governor Foors addressed the Y. M. Mercantile Library Association last night in elequent strains of animadversion against the tampering by the Executive with the action of the people in the choice of their representatives, and in deploring the degeneracy of politics. He presented with force and effect the need at this epoch of purity and patriotism in our national councils, and expressed his convictions that the right man would be vouchsafed us as pilot in the impending storm He counseled that the warnings of the Model President - Washington - should avail us now. Let the people, we say, ponder on their own duty, and demand from their rulers a recurrence to first principles.

Statue and Honors to Washington Irving. The Y. M. M. L. Association, at their meeting to-morrow night, should take the lead in passing resolutions honoring the memory of WASHINGTON IRVING. They should call a public meeting for the expression of public sentiment in reference to the death of this first man of the Literati of America, and to initiate steps to have a statue of the great American-Wassregrow Inving-erected in some conspicuous point in this city-the Queen of the West.

Meeting Night of the City Council. The subject is mooted to change the meeting night of the City Council from Wednesday to Tuesday. It has not yet been broached by presentation to the Board. Several members are in favor of the change on account of their engagements elsewhere on Wednesday night. The change would be of doubtful propriety, bewever.

Be Sure You are Right.

The Courts have decided in a recent case in which the city had to pay a paving bill on John-street, "that where streets varied in width on different squares, separate assessment ordinances should be passed."

The seat of the Congress would probably be Paris, the governments of Russia and Austria having signified a preference for that capital.

A Paris telegram to the London Itse says that the powers invited to send representatives to the Congress are those that signed the final act of Vienna and the three principal powers of Italy. The Congress will thus be composed of France, Great Britain, Russia, Prussia, Austris, Spain, Portugal, Sweden, Sardinia, Rome and Naples.

It is reported that Cardinal Antonelli will represent the Pope in the Congress. The London Times, upon the San Juan difficulty, enlarges upon the general conviction that war between America and England is impossible. It however says: "There are some convictions which work out their own truth in practice, but there are others which tend to their own practical refutation. We sincerely hope that the different readings of the axiom, that war with England and America is impossible, may not be an illustration of this truth." The editorial, after pointing out the importance of San Juan to the English, and the impossibility of the surrender of it unless some very different title be brought forward from any yet seen, concludes by expressing much satisfaction that the right to the island will be cooly discussed in Wash-ington and London, while the affairs on the

The Times has again a disgusting article on the relations of England and France.
It complains that in France, every instrument that can work on public opinion is being employed to raise a violent spirit of animosity that the army is taught to look on a war with England as not remote.

The Times cannot discover any serious question at issue between the two governments, and affirms that it is in the power of the Emperor alone to put an end to the state of things daily becoming more serious, and if he does not do so there is a reasonable ground for drawing a gloomy inference from his al-

Washington, December 1 .- The Tennessee's mails, which arrived here to-day, brought a letter from an entirely reliable source, saying that the Cabinet of the Liberal Government are united in their views, and there is every reason to believe that they will agree to the pending treaty with the United States. So hopeful is the writer that he adds that it will be received in this country very soon after the meeting of Congress.

There is no truth in the newspaper report that Juarez intends asking for an immediate American armed intervention. A rumor was however prevalent at Vern Crus, just before the Tennessee left, that the Miramon Government was about to make overtures to our own, but its truth was strongly doubted,

ECONOMY! DISPATCHI By "A Stitch in Time Saves Nine." 50 As accidents will happen, even in well-regulated milies, it is very desirable to have some cheap and convenient way for repairing Furniture, Toys, Crock-

SPALDING'S PREPARED GLUE Meets all such emergencies, and no household can afford to be without it. It is always ready and up to the sticking point. There is no longer a necessity for imping chairs, splintered veneers, headless dolls and broken cradies. It is just the article for cone, shell and other ornamental work, so popular with ladies of refinement and taste.

This admirable preparation is used cold, being chemically held in solution, and possessing all the valuable qualities of the best cabinet-makers' glue. It may be used in the place of ordinary muchage, being wastly more adhesive. "USEFUL IN EVERY HOUSE,"
